PROPOSALS
By Joseph M. Sanderson,

For Publishing by Subscription,

A Biography of the Signers
OF THE
Declaration of Independence,

Accompanied with Plates.

To which will be annexed a History of the Proceedings of Congress, during the passage of the Law, and the Declaration itself, with the fac simile Engravings of the Signatures.

By JOHN SANDERSON.

TO THE PUBLIC.

When we consider the personal qualities of the statesmen whose names are affixed to the Declaration of Independence, the perilous occasion which demanded the exercise of their wisdom and deliberation, and the influence of their councils on the interests of mankind, we must acknowledge that very rarely a more imposing spectacle has been offered to the world, and we shall seek in vain in the annals of nations, for an event more worthy of commemoration, and of being cherished forever in the hearts of a grateful and generous people. The love of independence is interwoven with the frame and constitution of the human mind. It is almost the first sentiment that animates the infant's features in the cradle; and amongst all the actions and enterprizes of man, none has awaked into activity a greater exertion of the virtuous energies of his nature, none has excited a greater warmth of veneration, and has more imperious claims upon our gratitude, than resistance to tyranny and political aggression.

In all republican states the first tribute of genius has been paid to the patriot or the hero who has promoted the cause of liberty and maintained the independence and dignity of man. The animated canvas and breathing marble have rescued his features from the grasp of death, and the pen of the historian has inscribed the achievements to the imperishable records of fame. It would indeed be no favorable prognostic of the perpetuity of our republican institutions to discover an insensibility to the obligations we owe the memory of the illustrious patrons of American freedom. They have raised us, by their magnanimity, from the arbitrary dominion of a foreign power, to the distinguished elevation of a sovereign and independent people; they have asserted and maintained the imprescriptible rights of humanity by the "mutual pledge of their pledge of their lives, their fortunes and their sacred honors;" and, as long as virtue holds her empire in the hearts of their successors, the example of these generous benefactors will not be lost to the world; their names will not pass away nor be forgotten, or their glorious deeds be confounded in the common and casual transaction of life.—Ingratitude is a vice that in nations, as well as individuals, indicates the last degree of degeneracy and corruption; it is a vice that implies the absence of every virtue; it was in the age of Caligula that the name of the Scipios was proscribed, that the statue of Brutus brought death on its possessor.

"The glory of our ancestors is the light of posterity," and the homage of the living cannot be offered to the merits of the illustrious dead with an effectual or sterile admiration. Great and splendid actions will seldom be achieved by men who have humble or ordinary objects in prospect. It is by contemplating the life and character of those who are marked out from the multitude by their eminent qualities, that we become emulous of their virtues and their renown. The trophies of Miltiades interrupted the sleeps of Themistocles; and Theseus, hearing the exploits of Hercules, was fired with his spirit, and became the successful rival of his fame. The rude savage of the desert listens with rapture to the deeds of his ancestors, and hangs around his hut the emblems of his father's valour.

More need not be said to enforce the utility of the publication we have undertaken, and which we now submit to the patronage of our fellow-citizens, with a hope, that from the liberality of their encouragement, we shall be able to present it to the public worthy of their approbation. We must depend for the illustration of many of the characters of our biography, upon the generosity of their surviving relatives and friends, to furnish us with whatever interesting materials may be in their possession; for which, with our grateful acknowledgments, we promise a copy of the entire work as a compensation.

CONDITIONS.

I. The work will be published in numbers or half volumes of 200 pages, octavo and contained in ten numbers. To the first will be prefixed an appropriate frontis-piece—and the work will be commenced with the declaration of independence, with engraved fac similes of the signatures, and a compendious detail of the proceedings in congress, during the passage of the law. Each of the lives, unless when it is impracticable, will be preceded by a likeness of the person, engraved by the best artists in the United States.

II. It will be printed on fine paper, made expressly for the purpose, and delivered to subscribers at two dollars and fifty cents per number, payable on delivery.

From the Easton (Md.) Gazette) Oct. 18.

THE ELECTION

Is now over, and perhaps our readers will be glad to learn something how it has happened that the Democrats have snatched the reins of power in the state. A brief summary as it respects each county, will be the best explanation, first borrowing a word of remark, from a very celebrated and distinguished great man, Fisher Ames, of Massachusetts, who knew mankind intimately, who had studied the character of man individually and collectively, and who was well acquainted with all the motives and all the springs of human conduct, most strongly pourtrayed the character of the two parties in this country, in a few words after his retirement from public life, and when the world had neither charms or temptations to offer him—this character will go far to explain the causes why Democracy triumphs over Federalism—it is as follows: 'To them (the Democrats) action is ease, to us it is effort—to be at rest costs them more constraint, than us to stir—the machinery of our zeal is wrought by a feeble and intermitting momentus, and is impeded by its own friction—their rage beats like the pulse of life, and to stop it would be mortal. Like the whirlwind it clears away obstacles and gathers speed in its progress—any great exertion not only tires, but disgusts Federalists: Their spirit after flaming brightly, soon sleeps in its embers; but the Democrats, like Salamanders, can breathe only in fire. Like toads they suck no aliment from the earth but its poisons—when they rest in their lurking places, it is like serpents in winter, the better to concoct their venom; and when they are in action, it is to shed it.'—Now to the statements.

CECIL COUNTY

Failed by an average majority of about 15 votes—until the two late elections Cecil has been federal by a majority of about two hundred, but discord crept in among the federalists and estranged them from one another, though brothers of the same principle—a reconciliation was attempted this year and nearly succeeded; four gentlemen were selected as candidates who never polled before, and nothing could speak more loudly in their behalf than their near approach to success—Cecil is certainly federal and will prove herself so.

KENT

Elected two and two—after the defeat of Mr. Boyer last year in the sheriff's election, even this was better than some expected, though others, who can never be dismayed, anticipated more—no eulogium can be too great for the deserts of our friends in Kent—they have been brave and persevering and skilful amidst the storm, and neither courage or animation seems to fail them. The loss of Boyer has been felt.

QUEEN ANNE'S,

As heretofore, is all wrong. There is a nadir point in politics as well as in physics, from which every return must be for the better.

TALBOT

Has for seven years oscillated periodically between Federalism and Democracy, and cast her weight to the latter this year. When Talbot exerts herself to the utmost, she will always be Federal, but as Mr. Ames says, it costs federalists too much trouble to stir, and if they succeed one year, they think that effort is to be everlasting in its effect—we do not mean to say that federalists in Talbot made no exertion this year, many made very great exertions indeed, but it appeared impossible to rouse the great mass of their friends to action—the attempt was like the course of the sun over an inhospitable, lifeless, barren desert—nothing could be produced—the tares have rooted out the corn.—Talbot saved the state last year; Talbot will still yield good fruit in due season.

CAROLINE,

Though by her friends in the state she was almost abandoned to despair, taking her average majority from the three highest federalists on her ticket, which is the fair mode, failed by a majority of not more than fifteen votes. We cannot say too much in praise of her efficient men and of her faithful people; no men are more national or more patriotic than the people of Caroline; convince them of the true course and they will pursue it—such men as Potter, the Hughletts, the Reids, Houston, and many others that could be named must prevail, whenever virtue, sound integrity and an honorable uniformity of character are held in estimation. Hope's kedger can grapple here.

DORSET,

Has shaken the poppies from her brow, and walks abroad again in her own majesty.—Dorset is Federal, and can maintain her stand; it would be an insult to her people to suppose the contrary; for above all counties in the state, her Democracy is headed by the weakest, washiest, most miserable, sorriest set. Possessing within her bounds a body of able, learned, distinguished men, capable in all the exigencies of human affairs, is it to be presumed that a generous body of Yeomanry and Mechanics, such as are in Dorset, would desert such men, and enlist under the banners of sickly weakness and arrogant stupidity? Dorset is what she ought to be, and her people though sound will be found sounder every year.

SOMERSET

Is the Citadel of good principles. Her men of character and stability take pains to cultivate the friendship of the people, and to inform and train the public mind—and verily they have their reward. Ye brawlers about equality, if you want to know about what you talk so much, and understand so little, go to Somerset and you will see it exemplified, where an almost undivided sentiment makes good men and good principles, the objects of its zeal and admiration.

WORCESTER

Has fallen this year. Her Candidates were highly respectable and worthy, but except one, they were not the old hands—E. K. Wilson failed by nine votes. Good as these gentlemen are, Worcester has stronger men still, and she can produce them. No doubt the death of Mr. Handy, and the removal of Mr. Quinton, have been a serious disadvantage to Worcester, but yet she has Hayward and Wilson, and others that she can put forth in the day of greater need.

ALLEGANY,

That has always been Federal, sends three Democrats this year—this was owing to five Federalists running—Mr. Thomas it seems was not on the ticket, and stood notwithstanding—this lost the election of the Federal ticket. It was unfortunate that such an occurrence should take place; Mr. Thomas is as worthy a fellow as lives, and could be have foreseen that the loss of the state would have been the effect of his opposition, no man would have more certainly withdrawn—we are sure no man regrets it more. It was a bad affair—Allegany will do better.

WASHINGTON COUNTY

Has always been democratic.

FREDERICK,

In the time of John Hanson Thomas, was Federal by a majority of about 400 votes—A schism among the Federalists lost that county—a reconciliation was attempted this year and in a great measure succeeded. She sends two and two—The progress which reconciliation has made insures Frederick, and she may henceforth be ranked among the certain Federal counties

MONTGOMERY,

It has fared with her as with Frederick, a schism among brothers has changed things there. She sends three Federalists and one dissentient. These two counties, renowned for the wealth, the good sense and independence of their people, are notable instances of the ill effects of a family division. Federalists are, or ought to be, of one family, they are connected by one principle, they are descended from one political father, the illustrious founder of this republic. They have one common view, viz. the welfare of the people and the grandeur of this nation—let not petty matters dissolve a chain, that thus guides to the noblest objects, and binds with the most sacred principles.

PRINCE GEORGE'S

Sends two and two, to the astonishment of the world—Federal throughout, with a ticket that for respectability and strength had no equal, she loses two delegates, which was never the case before. Is Prince George's under the wing of the administration? Is she the field next the farm-yard that receives the fat drainings from the political stable? We observed the National Intelligencer to talk with affected knowingness about Prince George's, but we never dreamed that secret service money was ever intended to be applied to election purposes in the states.—John Q. Adams, the Secretary of State, has, we learn, many shares in the Planters' Bank of Prince George's—of course John Q. Adams has a great deal to do with Prince George's, and John Q. Adams having been a great deal at foreign courts in other countries, has no doubt learned how treasury leakings make the political sentiment to grow. John is a wise and observant man, and if John ever loses any thing for the want of every sort of management, we don't know John.—Can it be possible that Prince George's is thus to be lost?

CHARLES & ST. MARY'S

Are the rocks upon which the storm may beat—They are orthodox—They are near to Mount Vernon—they have never forgotten the principles of the Revolution, the men who achieved it, or those who framed our excellent constitution, and first gave it life and motion. Charles and St. Mary's are federal.

CALVERT

Has returned to the principles she loves; she has three federalists; we shall always regret the loss of Mr. Gray. Calvert is a gallant little county, she is the object of admiration, and the noble spirits that guide and direct her, command all our applause, and merit our greatest esteem. Well done noble souls! You belong to the Household of the Faithful.

ANNE ARUNDEL

Contains men she ought to be proud of, and who would lead her to distinction and to fame; but she is merely put down on the list, and sends four delegates of the democratic party.

ANNAPOLIS,

The falling borough, is the shade of the aspin leaf that trembles in a calm. She is federal to-morrow, if the secret wishes of all her hearts could be disclosed; but even in the tranquil moment of federal dominion she is kept in dread of the possible success of democrats, and as the seat of government is every thing to her, she propitiates the democratic party by sending democratic delegates, and says to the federalists, we need not bribe you, you act correctly from a sense of duty. Annapolis was once what every city ought to be—but she became democratic and discarded her best and ablest friends—from that time she has dwindled and tumbled, and her doom is fixed—she is not within the reach of salvation—her fate is written on her walls.

HARFORD

Is the county that sent John Montgomery for many years.

BALTIMORE COUNTY

Is allied to Baltimore city.—Good principles might be made to grow in Baltimore county, if her good men were not so despondent; despondency is one of the greatest of all political sins. "How can men hope to win by it?" "Love thyself last."

BALTIMORE CITY

Is thus intended to rule the State of Maryland, if the democratic party succeed in getting the Senate the year after next, at present the Senate stands between us and destruction, it is the shield in battle. If the democrats get the Senate next time, they will, as they say, put a stop to all further federal opposition; they mean to secure a democratic Governo by a general ticket, so that Baltimore shall controul that election; and they will revise the rule of delegation from the counties, and send delegates according to population; this will place the legislature under Baltimore controul; next the seat of government will go to Baltimore, and poor, poor little Annapolis will soon follow after. The democratic party will find it necessary to make those changes in order to secure themselves permanently in the state, for without these changes it is obvious to every one that they cannot retain the power;—of Allegany, Frederick, Prince George's, Montgomery, Charles, St. Mary's and Calvert, we must always get six at the lowest count upon a general exertion; and of Cecil, Kent, Talbot, Caroline, Dorset, Somerset and Worcester, we can always get five at the lowest calculation; and we will have them, for the people are with us; the democrats seeing this would most certainly make the above alterations, as the only means to secure themselves, if ever they get the power. Our only security is keeping the power out of their hands. Freemen of Maryland attend to this.

THE VOTE ON JOINT BALLOT

Is democratic, of course the state goes into democratic hands. This is contrary to the expectation of any man; for although the democratic party have always aimed at it, yet they did not expect it; nor could they found a hope upon any thing else from the negligence of the federal party; much exertion was made in the state by federalists every where, but not such exertion as if they had thought the fate of the state doubtful. They now see, that without exertion, even with a federal senate, they are not secure, and the lessons of experience are the best. Their senators they cannot recover for some time, the executive they may and with it all the annual officers of the state. The senate they can get and the senate they will have, for the people are undoubtedly with them, and the people will never agree to give the democratic party a senate seeing that they mean to make Baltimore controul the state.

MAINE CONVENTION.

The Portland papers contain a journal of the proceedings of the Convention to Monday last, with the draft of a constitution reported by the committee on that day. It is unnecessary for us to republish in detail the account of these proceedings.

On Thursday last, Judge Thacher, from the committee on elections, reported on a number of cases of informal returns, and Mr. Holmes, from the committee on the constitution, reported a draft of a preamble and bill of rights. The bill of rights accords in most of its features with that prefixed to the constitution of this commonwealth. It was ordered to be printed, and referred for consideration on Monday.

On Friday the style and the title of the new state, was taken into consideration. Judge Cony moved to substitute the word Columbus as the name of the state, instead of Maine. This motion was lost. Mr. Adams, of Gorham, moved to reconsider the vote by which Commonwealth had been struck out of the proposed title, and State substituted, and to restore the former term. After some debate, the question on the motion for reconsideration was taken and lost—yeas 101, nays 240. It is therefore determined that the legal style shall be the State of Maine.

On Saturday a further report was made by the committee on elections, and the several parts of it acted on by the convention. The sitting members were all confirmed in their seats. The case of William Vance, returned by the town of Calais, was debated for some time, but was finally determined in his favor. The objection to his sitting was, that he is not an inhabitant of the town for which he is chosen, but resides in an unincorporated plantation near the town.

On Monday the consideration of the preamble and bill of rights was postponed, and in the afternoon Mr. Holmes, from the committee on the subject, reported a constitution. The following are the leading provisions of the constitution.

Article 1, consists of the declaration of rights, in twenty-four sections. Article 2, provides that every male citizen of the U. States twenty-one years of age, excepting paupers, persons under guardianship, and Indians not taxed, shall be an elector for Governor, Senators and Representatives. The election of these officers to be on the second Monday in September annually.

Art. 3 The legislative, executive, and judicial departments to be kept distinct.

Art. 4. The legislative power to be invested in a house of representatives and senate, to be termed the Legislature of Maine. The house of representatives to consist of not less than one hundred, nor more than two hundred members. On the first apportionment the number of members is not to exceed 150.—

An enumeration of the inhabitants, exclusive of foreigners, and Indians not taxed, is to be made once in ten years at least, and not oftener than once in five years, and after each enumeration the number of members proportioned to the number of inhabitants then obtained, is to be assigned to each county. Each town of 1500 inhabitants is to have one representative, and one in addition for each additional 3500 inhabitants. But no town is to have more than seven representatives. The towns which have less than 1500 inhabitantants are to be arranged in districts, and each district to have one representative. In forming districts towns are not to be divided. The number which shall give a right to a representative, assumed for the present at 1500, is to be increased or diminished as occasion may require.

Art. 4, part 2. The senate is to consist of not less than 23, nor more than 31 members. Districts for senators are to be formed once in ten years, as near as may be by county lines, and the number of senators apportioned according to the number of inhabitants. The Legislature to meet annually on the first Wednesday in January.

Art. 4, part 3, defines the powers of the legislature.

Art. 5. The governor is to be chosen annually and to enter on his office on the first Wednesday of January. He is to nominate, and with the advice and consent of the council, to appoint, all judicial officers, attorney general, sheriffs, coroners, and registers of probate. The duties of the office to devolve on the president of the senate in case of vacancy.

The council is to consist of seven members, to be chosen by a joint ballot of the senate and house of representatives—not more than one councillor to be chosen from the same senatorial district.

The secretary and treasurer of the state to be chosen by joint ballot of the two houses.

The judicial power to be vested in a supreme judicial court, and such other courts as the legislature shall establish. Justices of the peace to hold their offices for the term of seven years—all other judicial officers during good behaviour, but not beyond the age of seventy years.

Art. 8, contains the following remarkable provision, "No donation, grant, or endowment, shall at any time be made to any literary institution now established, or which may hereafter be established, unless at the time of making such endowment the governor and council shall have the power of revising and negativing the doings of the trustees and government of such institution, in the selection of its officers and the management of its funds."

ALABAMA.

William Bibb is elected Governor of the new state, and John Crowell representative to Congress from the same. [Nat. Int.

PROCLAMATION,

BY CADWALLADER D. COLDEN,
Mayor of the City of New-York.

Whereas the malignant disease which lately existed in this city, and which was almost entirely confined to a very small section thereof, has wholly subsided; and whereas divine providence has been pleased to restore the city to its wonted health—Now, therefore, I, the said mayor, with the advice of the board of health of the said city, do hereby make known and proclaim, that no pestilence, malignant, infectious or contagious disease, does now exist in the said city,—and I do farther make known that bills of health will, pursuant to the laws of the state of N. York, be granted by the mayor of the said city, all persons requiring the same.

Given under my hand, and the seal of mayoralty of said city, this 22d day of October, 1819.

Signed, CADWALLADER D. COLDEN.

Extract of a letter from an officer in the United States' service to a gentleman in Virginia, dated Cantonment, Cow Island, Sept. 4.

I arrived here a few days since, in company with a detachment of the 6th regiment infantry; which, in conjunction with the three companies of riflemen before at this place, makes our force about a thousand strong. With this force we shall proceed immediately on to complete our expedition. I travelled the most of the way from St. Louis by land, and find this country an entire prairie, interspersed with clumps of trees. The Missouri bottom is excepted however; that is generally well timbered, and is remarkably fertile; and is from two to five miles broad. The navigation of the Missouri is very difficult; hard and laborious on the troops; it requiring from 30 to 40 men to cordel each boat. The steam boat Expedition is now here and another boat is hourly expected; and I presume they will not attempt to ascend further with them.

A council has been held with some of the Indian nations; they do not appear to take any interest in the expedition, which was expected. The Indians are extremely poor and ignorant.

The scientific corps, which proceeded by land from Fort Clay, and was to join us at the Council Bluffs, were met by a war party of Pawnee Indians, and robbed of every thing that was not immediately about their persons. They were of course compelled to join us at this place, which has prevented our receiving useful information of the interior of the country.

The Pawnee is the most powerful and warlike tribe on the lower part of the Missouri. Their settlements are situated 50 or 60 miles up the river Platt, which empties into the river Missouri about 650 miles above its mouth, and 50 or 60 miles below the Council Bluffs.

Our troops are healthy, and in fine spirits.

We shall spend the winter at the Council Bluffs.

Salem, October 19.

On Tuesday evening last, capt. John Endicott, of the ship Janus, who arrived yesterday, saw the whole hemisphere of the heavens illuminated with brilliant corruseations of light, like what we saw in the Aurora Borealis, except that it was tinged with various prismatic colors This interesting and novel phenomenon continued a considerable part of the night, attracting the admiration of the beholders by its variegated hues and movements.

On Wednesday a violent gust of wind, accompanied with rain, hail and snow, was experienced by captain Endicott, of the Janus, captain Downing, of the General Stark, and captain Potter, of the Abby.

Spot on the Sun.—Captain Endicott also saw on Tuesday, a dark spot on the sun, which he judged covered nearly an eighth part of its disk. The whole surface of the sun had, at the time, a singular brassy complexion.

Captain Downing, from St. Salvador, reports, that great preparations were making at that place for the reception of the grand Spanish fleet, which was soon expected from Cadiz. A general order had passed for all the garrisons, batteries, &c. to be put in complete repair. We presume the reception alluded to is to be of a complimentary and friendly nature.

PRIVATE CORRESPONDENCE.

Extract of a letter to the Editor, dated—

"Gibraltar, August 31.

"No other reason has ever been assigned in political circles in Spain, for the fate of the Treaty than the interference of England, though it is stated, the British Minister in Madrid assured Mr. Forsyth, in conversation, that he had no instructions from his Government to interpose any difficulty in the business, or to prejudice the rights of either party, and that he had not done so. All this, however might as well have been done in London, for it is a popular rumor that a secret Treaty exists between England and Spain, whereby, for some consideration, the latter has stipulated (some years ago) never to cede her North American possessions to any foreign power.—If so, it was only necessary in the present instance, for England to hint that she expected Spain to comply with the faith of her engagements. It is further confidently stated, that England signified that if Florida was ceded to the United States, she (England) must have Cuba—and that she must also acknowledge the independence of South America—and that Spain might prepare herself soon afterwards, to surrender to the same grasping ambition the sovereignty of Mexico.

"Calculating the weighty considerations which the cession in question presents to England, in a political point of view, it is not unreasonable to believe, that some suggestions of this kind might have been officially addressed to the fears of Spain, and as every body says so, it is most likely true, if not altogether, at least in its essential parts.

"Poor Don Onis, of course, must be sacrificed with the Treaty—accordingly he is forbidden to approach the Capital, and some accounts say he is under arrest—it is certain he has met with some mark of displeasure from his government, and has not arrived at Madrid.—Be not surprised at whatever fate may befal him—at all events not a less punishment than has been inflicted on the Marquis Yrujo for a similar offence—it still being asserted that he was banished in consequence of his partiality for the Treaty.

"Since the conspiracy amongst the troops at Cadiz, only about 3000 men have been forced off, said to be for the relief of Morillo—but now, that they are gone to Florida. The expedition is still talked of, but the prospect is very faint now of its acquiring a body.—A few men may be got off in detachments, but nothing more, for every day things grow worse and worse.

"Although O'Donnell has received promotion and rewards for his loyalty in betraying the conspiracy, they write from Madrid that he will never leave there but in disgraceful banishment—so satisfied are the people now that he was the instigator and promoter of the whole plot.

"I observe by your prpers a story repeated of the existence of MINA: I have a very particular account of his execution, by one of his own surviving officers who was doomed to witness his tragical end, and if I had time by this opportunity, I would transcribe it for you; I will by the next.

"The officers and crew of the privateer Constitution are still in the castle of St. Sebastians in Cadiz: what is to be done with them we do not know—they are not in irons or dungeons, as has been stated, and can receive any assistance that may be offered them.—Among the officers is Lord COURTENAY, who lived in great splendor some time near New-York; he was purser, and I have his own letter for saying he is the identical person he is described to be!! The others are Capt. Elihu Brown, Lieut. Isaac Drew, Midshipman Joseph Barney, and Doctor William Mc Clure.

"The squadron are at Leghorn, except the Erie.—She waits her a post and then proceeds to the Commodore."

PORT OF CHARLESTON, OCT. 20.

Arrived Yesterday,

Schr. Adeline, Ellis, Trinidad (Cuba) 21 days.—Coffee, sugar, molasses, honey, and segars. To order. Sept. 30th. off Cape Antonio, was boarded by a Patriot Privateer and treated politely. On the 10th in the Gulf Stream, spoke schr. Young Brutus, Fitch, 14 days from Baltimore bound to Havana—had been becalmed several days in the Gulf. On the — inst. latitude 24 29, in the Gulf, spoke schr. Favorite, Tate. 43 days from Honduras, bound to Boston, short of provisions, and supplied her with bread, sugar, coffee and water.—On the 12th inst. off the South side of the Florida Keys, while becalmed, was boarded by a piratical boat, manned by 7 men, armed with swords, muskets, &c. —immediately on being boarded they demanded the schooner's papers, and drove the captain, mate, and all hands into the forecastle. After searching in vain for money, they then called up the cook, who informed them that there was Specie on board; the mate was next called, and questioned whether there was any money on board or not, to which he replied there was not any to his knowledge; the mate was then ordered into the after-cabin, and placed under a centinel, leaving his hat on deck; immediately after they fired a gun through the hat, killed a parrot, which covered it with blood. The captain next was called, had a musket presented to his breast, and a sword drawn over his head, when the ruffians asked him, (pointing to the mate's hat) whether he knew it or not—he answered he did—they then demanded of him the money which the cook had informed them of—capt. Ellis, thinking that they had killed his mate, from the appearances of blood on the hat, and in order to save his own life, he was compelled to tell them that there was money on board, but that he did not know where it was stowed, but that his mate knew where it was, but no other man on board.—The mate was then again called, and threatened, that if he did not instantly deliver the money they would throw him overboard—upon which he was compelled to do so, and the whole amounted to but $80. They then ordered all hands below a second time, placing a centinel over them—when they commenced plundering the vessel of all her cabin furniture, ship stores, part of the cargo, and also robbed Mr. Antonio Hernandez, a passenger, of the whole of his clothing, with the exception of one suit—and leaving on board the schooner, only 24 lbs. beef, 15 lbs. bread, and 50 gallons of water. After remaining on board about four hours, they took their departure, carrying off with them the cook, named Henry Johnson, a free black fellow, belonging to Germantown, (Penn.) They then bore away for the schooner Favorite, and it is presumable that she must have shared the same fate, as there were several flashes of muskets distinctly seen from the deck of the deck of the Adeline. Capt. E. states, that the Favorite had upwards of 1[illegible] or $15,000 on board. Next morning, saw a boat leave a schr. from under the land, which was taken for the Favorite, and which no doubt they plundered. On the 13th inst. spoke the brig Union, Paine, 10 days from the Bay of Honduras, bound to Providence R. I. and was supplied with some beef, water and bread. The Adeline was bound to Boston, but was compelled to put into this port, on account of the above misfortune.

S. Drew, Merchant Tailor,

Removed from Fairfax-street to the corner of King and Columbus streets, and his prices falling,

RESPECTFULLY acquaints his customers and the citizens in general that he has removed as above, where he will study to give satisfaction. He has by him a small but well assorted stock of goods, which will be found on inspection to be of the best quality, the whole of which he wishes to sell low for cash, and as further inducements to purchasers he offers to cut out any goods, bought of him to any size or pattern gratis.

S. Drew aware, of the advantage a ready money business has over one where long credit is given, thinks that a distinction ought to be made in the prices in each case: and as the price of provisions are low at present, he is glad to be able to announce to those customers who will feel disposed to pay him ready money for his work, that he will reduce the price of making to them according to the present journeymen's wages; and to prevent any supposed imposition on the one hand or disatisfaction on the other he is willing to be governed by the printed regulations of prices by which the journeymen are paid in Alexandria.

N. B. Bread, flour, beef, groceries, liquors or any thing valuable taken in exchange for clothes.

S. Drew has this day opened a tavern in the same house, where he has laid in a supply of Philadelphia and the district porter and ale, together with liquors of the best quality, and he feels confident that he shall be able to give satisfaction to all who will please to favor him with a call.—He is fitting up his house for the accommodation of boarders, travellers, &c. and from its central situation, good beds and stabling, together with other requisites, he presumes that it will be found a convenient establishment.

Was Committed,

TO the jail for the county of Alexandria on the 3d inst. as a runaway, a negro man called BEN HENDERSON, supposed to be the property of George Thornton, of King George county. The said negro is about 50 years of age; 5 feet 6 inches high; bald head; and a shoemaker by trade. The owner is desired to come prove property, pay charges, and take him away, otherwise he will be disposed of as the law directs.
ANDW. ROUNSAVELL,
september 8 Jailor.

100 Dollars Reward.

RAN away on the 28th of April, from the farm of the subscriber, in Dogue Neck, Fairfax Co. Virginia, negro HARRY, aged about twenty three years, about five feet ten inches high, very black, well built, has a considerable impediment in his speech, when spoken to evinces much confusion, and replies almost unintelligibly: had on when he left home, a much worn suit of domestic cloth. I have every reason to believe that he is endeavoring to pass for a free man, and as such went off in some of the bay craft during the late fishing season. All masters of vessels are forewarned from harboring or taking into their employ said negro, under penalty of having the law rigidly enforced against them. I will give twenty dollars, if taken in the county of Fairfax, or district of Columbia; if beyond that distance, the above reward, provided he is secured in jail so that I get him again. WM. MASON.
Charles County, Md. June 1.

The editors of the National Intelligencer and Baltimore Federal Gazette will insert the above until forbid, and send their accounts to Port Tobacco for payment.
June 11 H

100 Dollars Reward.

I WILL give the above reward to any person who will return to my possession, negro LAWRENCE, who assumes the surname of FENWICK. This fellow left my farm, on the Wicomico river, in Charles county, Md. on the 6th July, in consequence of his own outrageous conduct towards my overseer. He is a negro of a fine erect figure, good features, asmooth black skin, rather above the middle stature, of a youthful appearance for one of thirty years of age, and of great plausibility and natural smartness. His ears grow remarkably close to his head, and on the inside of his lower lip he has a white mark or spot. I purchased him 4 years ago of the estate of Mrs. P. H. Courts, of this county. I am led (by circumstances which have come to my knowledge since he absconded,) to believe that he will endeavor to make his way to King George county, Va.; should he not take this route, he will probably be met with in the District of Columbia, or in the upper counties of this state, on his way to Pennsylvania. I apprehend he will change his name, and if committed to jail, refuse to state to whom he belongs, as the misconduct which preceded his departure, & his absconding, have all appeared since to have been premeditated. He took all his clothes with him, of which he had a large number; among them—a new bearskin over-coat, a long close-bodied blue coat, a pair of striped jean pantaloons, one or more white waistcoats, besides many articles of coarse cloathing; these, however, he will probably exchange, or sell them for cash to defray his travelling expenses.

I will give the above reward to any person who will bring him home to me, or FIFTY DOLLARS if confined in jail, and notice given me, so that I recover him.—Should he be taken out of the state, I will also pay all reasonable costs and charges which may attend the bringing him home.

PROSPECTUS

Of a new periodical work to be published in the city of Washington, entitled the Washington Theological REPERTORY.

EDITORS. { Rev. Wm. Hawley, Washington, Rev. Wm. H. Wilmer, Alexandria, Rev. Oliver Norris, Alexandria, Rev. Reuel Keith, Georgetown.

Assisted by several other literary gentlemen of the Protestant Episcopal Church.

IF any apology were necessary for this undertaking, it may be found in the fact, that there is no publication on a similar plan, in all that section of our country lying south of New York, and but one in the whole of the United States. It has been matter of equal surprize and regret, that the Episcopal Church should be so far behind other Christian denominations, in similar efforts to disseminate the principles of religion and piety. At a period like the present, when the Lord is preparing his way on earth, by the most remarkable efforts of human agency, and the most wonderful operations of his providence and grace—when we perceive in every part of Christendom, a praise-worthy emulation to share in the glorious work of filling the earth with the knowledge of the only true God, and his Son Jesus Christ; it would seem criminal for any to withhold their exertions, however feeble, in the great enterprize of human happiness and salvation. The editors have, therefore, felt it their duty to make this humble effort to supply this acknowledged deficiency on the part of the church in this section of the country, and to bear their share in the common exertions of Christians to promote the Redeemer's Kingdom. And having obtained the services of a gentleman, in whose talents and principles they have confidence, whose time will be wholly devoted to the superintendence of the work, they feel encouraged to solicit the patronage of the public.

The publecation will be conducted under the immediate inspection and control of the above named editors, who will form a committee to review every article intended for publication. The principles upon which it will be conducted are those of the bible, as illustrated in the articles, Liturgy and Homilies of the Protestant Episcopal Church. As members of this church the editors will feel bound to support the Apostolical character of her constitutions, the pious tendency of her rites and ceremonies, and the evangelical nature of her doctrines. But in these, and all other discussions, they hope never to loose sight of that great law of charity which teaches us to "preserve the unity of the spirit in the bond of peace."

Acting upon those catholic principles, so long and so successively pursued by "The Christian Observer," their chief object will be to inculcate sound theological knowledge, and to delineate and recommend pure and vital religion. They trust therefore, that while the members of every Christian denomination may find something edifying and instructive, none will discover any just cause for offence in the pages of this work. General subjects of biblical criticism, practical illustrations of scriptural truth, the biography of illustrious persons, evidences of the truth of revelation, essays on the history and polity of the church, reviews of interesting publications, religious, literary and philosophical intelligence—in short, whatever is connected with the promotion of religion, humanity and literature, will find a place in this repository.

The testimony of experience supersedes the necessity of dwelling on the advantages of a periodical publication on the plan proposed. Its obvious tendency will be to render the various departments of religious knowledge more easy and accessible, and give a more ready currency and wider circulation, to those great truths which involve the present welfare and future destiny of man.

It will tend powerfully to stimulate the exertions of the editors, and console them under the difficulties attendant on the prosecution of this work, amidst many other avocations, should it prove the means under the blessing of God, of enriching any of its readers with the saving knowledge of Christ, and prepare them for a participation in the felicity and glory of his heavenly kingdom. With this hope they commit it into his hands, and confidently solicit their brethren of the clergy and laity to assist them in carrying into effect the objects of the undertaking.

TERMS OF THE WORK.

A volume of the Repertory shall consist of twelve numbers, of which one shall be published on the first day of every month, containing thirty-two large octavo pages, stitched in blue, and attended with a table of contents.

The paper used in the work shall be good, and the typography executed with the greatest care.

The price of a volume is two dollars, payable in advance; to such as omit the advance, two dollars and fifty cents.

It is designed to enlarge the size of the work, without increasing the price, as soon as one thousand subscribers shall be obtained.

Communications and remittances may be directed to any of the editors, post-paid.

Any person becoming responsible for five subscribers, shall receive a sixth copy gratis.

The first number may be expected in the month of July. 1gue28
